101

Wombats produce cube-shaped droppings: between 80 and 100 pieces in a single night. In 2019, how they do it was the subject of the Ig Nobel Prize for Physics.

102

An octopus has three hearts: a main heart that circulates blood around the body, and two that pump it through the gills. Its blood carries oxygen using a copper-rich protein.

103

Sloths climb down from the trees about once every eight days to defecate on the ground. Scientists have long debated why.

Worth the trip.

104

Electric eels can deliver shocks of up to 860 volts, and despite the name, they are not closely related to true eels. They are knifefish.
